A message direct from the white house and said to have been the and said to have been from president Wilson, was reported to have been re-ceived by one of the delegates to the American Livestock convention Wednes-

American Livestock convention Wednesday morning urging the modification of the resolution reterring to conditions in Mexico and the policy of the Wilson administration toward Mexico.

The message is reported to have been received by governor J. B. Kendrick, of Wyoming, the acknowledged administration leader in the convention. Governor Kendrick declined to say whether or not the message was received. Secretary Tomlinson stated Wednesday afternoom that he had heard such a message had been received, but did not know the contents of it.

The reported receipt of the message repeal the tax upoh oleomargarine.

Porest Control.

Other resolutions passed at the morning session included one endorsing the administration of the national forests by the forest sorvice; one endorsing of the report of the marking committee made at the Wednesday morning meeting and requesting the incoming officers and executive committee to carry out the recommendations, and one favoring a comprehensive and efficient fural credit system in the United States. A resolution authorizing the secretary of agriculture to enter into an agreement with state or private owners for the exchange of lands, within the national forests, so as to consolidate the lands into solld blocks was passed. Another was passed calling on the department of agriculture to give wide publicity through weekly bulletins of the receipts of livestock at the various important markets, and prices of livesteck and meat products, and petitioning congress to enact a law which will compel the packers engaged in internate commerce to adopt an accounting system under governmental supervision.

The reported receipt of the message from the president is taken by the live-stock men to indicate that the country at large and especially the officials in Washington, are watching the developments at the American National convention closely. The Mewcan resolution which was said to have been drastic when first drafted, was modified so much that it met with the approval of governor kendrick and was passed with his approval and upon his motion.

The 19th annual ball of the American National Live Stock association at Hotel Paso del Norte Wednesday night resolved itself into a sort of two-ring affair, as after the ball room upstairs bad been packed with human beings so that only a small circle in the middle of the room was left for those brave enough to attempt to dance in the crowd to attempt to dance was started downstairs. So anxious was the crowd to attempt to dance that many of them walked the entire ten flights of stairs to the ball room because the elevators ware so crowded with passengers that all could not be necommodated. The overflow dance was started later in the evening in the main lobby of the hotel, which was cleared for dancing and the music furnished by the hotel crchestra. It is estimated that over 600 people attending the dance upstairs and several hundred at least danced down stairs while other hundreds of speciators crowded in the lobby of the hotel to watch the dancers.

KEEP ORCHARDS HEALTHY

The floor committee was composed of T. M. Wingo, chairman; U. S. Stewart, W. W. Turney, C. R. Hudspeth and A. L. McKnight. The dance was given for the cuttle convention visitors only, but the El Paso people were so determined to get in on the fun that the Three members of the county horticultural beard met with the commissioners Thursday morning and asked for an appropriation of $500 for an orchard inspector for the county. The request was granted by the commissioners and Milton Graves of Isleta has been named as inspector and he will inspect all of the orchards of the county for tree diseases at once.

The incumbers of the horticultural hoard have been deputized by Fred W. Pavis, commissioner of agriculture for Texas, to make arrests of orchardist who are not complying with the laws covering the protection of orchards from diseases.

C. C. Tanner, assistant commissioner, is now in the valley orchards. He is being accompanied by inspector Graves.

Millions of S'eep and Cattle Ben Williams Arrests Man Seen Coming Out of a Ramsey Apartment.

Ben Williams, veteran peace officer in the southwest and for years special officer for the Santa Fe railroad, used his skill in handling a pistol Wednesday night to cover a man who was found in the Ramsey apartments on West Missouri street, where he lives. Mr. Williams had just placed his car in the garage and was starting to his apartment on the second floor when he saw the screen to Fred Freudenstein's apartment open. He waited outside the window until a man appeared at the window until a man appeared at the window, covered him with his pistol, ordered him to throw up his hands and then called the police. The man was taken to the police station and there gave the name of J. R. Addison, who said he was from Albuquerque. Thursday morning Miguel Roma chaimed to have identified Addison as the man who held him up in a drug store at Fourth and Stanton streets last Sunday night and took from the cash register $15. He was charged with tobbery.

He said in part:
"During the grazing season which has just ended, the relations existing between the forest service and the stockinen using the forests have continued to be extremely agreeable. The few cases of discontent which may naturally be expected where there are more than 20.000 separate permittes grazing all classes of domestic animals over a region extending from the Canadian to the Mexican line are in a great measure due either to a miscunderstanding of the policies under which the national forest areas are now being administered for grazing purposes or else the natural inclination of the individual to object to any kind of supervision even though it is meant for his own good.

General Graxing Conditions.

"We have just finished reviewing the annual reports from the forest supervisor covering the grazing on the 135 national forests of over $.000,000 entitle and horses during the grazing senson of 1815 and with few exceptions these reports indicate that the stockmen have experienced one of the best seasons of the last decade.

Taking the country covered by the national forests as a whole, with the exception of the extreme southwest in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, and the western part of Montana, where he summer rains were rather above normal, an unusually dry season was experienced.

Are Satisfied. Arrested in Box Car.

Arrested in Carrisone, N. M., in a nox car, in which they were said in have made the trip from El Paso, Pete Thompson and B. Sergial were charged with grand larceny in the corporation court. The men were brought here from Carrisone Wednesday night after being arrested in that town by special officer W. C. Fryde, of the El Paso & Southwestern railroad. They are alleged to have taken two new automobile tires from the Auditorium garage, according to the police.

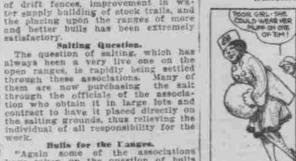

Flushca Light—Russ.

A burglar succeed the home of J. P. with grand larceny in the work of the recount of the men were brought here court. The men were brought here sourced was in great part brought about by closer attention to their stock on the part of the permittees, owing to the part of the permittees, owing to the fear that the drought conditions were going to bring injury both to the ranges and their stock. This fact proves conclusively that where owners take sufficient interest and are alive to the aituation, losses among lives to the aituation losses among lives to the police.

Cooperation.

This too has been an unusuality satisfactory year for the cooperation for which we have been attiving between the permittees and the service in the handling of their stock. The regulation which went into effect a year or two ago by which the service undertook to cooperate with stock associations in the erection and maintenance of drift fences, improvement in water supply building of stock trails, and the pluning upon the ranges of more and better buils has been extremely satisfactory.

Salting Question.

Observation taken of the color of the color

"Again some of the associations have taken up the question of bulls in a very public spirited manner. On the Heiona National Forest in the state of Montana and in several other forests the bulls are the property of the association, purchassed through the advisory board of the association and placed upon the forest range under its direction.

Meat Demand Strong.

most of the forest range under its direction.

Mean Demand Strong.

With the demand for meat products as strong as it is and the ranges in most of the forests practically stocked to the limit of safety, it is not always possible to increase the permitted number, but we believe it is very possible to increase the permitted number, but we believe it is very possible to increase individual weight of every steeg turned off the national forest ranges to such an extent that the total will add immensely not only to the stockman's profit but to the wealth of the nation.

*Strub Must Go.*

The forest service reel that the time is now ripe to adopt the slogan the scrub must go.* and the results so far obtained through this cooperation between the service and its permites prove that we have made exceedingly good progress in startina him on his way.

Sheep and Cattle Graze Together.

"On several of our forests, the cattlemen, realizing that there are certain classes of forage on many of the ranges which are not palatable to cattle, but are greedily grazed by sheep, have clubbed together to purchase small hands of sneep which they are now running on the same ranges used by their cattle in order to utilize every possible acre.

Federal Range Reserves.

Since the last annual meeting of this association the scope of the work of the forest service has been widened and its activities increased through congressional action, by which we have taken over the administration of two large open range areas used wholly for grazing purpeses for the purpose of carrying on a series of practical experiments covering grazing of cattle upon open range. These two areas—the Santa Rita in southern Arizona, consisting of about 50,000 sures and the Jornade, in southern New Mexico covering 200,000 acres, were set aside some years ago by presidential proclamation and turned over to the burels, of plant industry for such investigations into the plant life upon them as seemed advisable.

Arizona Ragare.

The work on the Arizona range has not yet reached a polat where it is fully developed, but on the Jornada we have everything running in excellent shape, with a little over 5000 head of well bred cattle with which to carry on the various experiments. Interesting Problems on Grazing.

There are a number of interesting problems which every western stockman has to face that we hope to clear up through these experiments which, carried out as they will be on such a large scale and with large numbers of cattle, must definitely settle some hitherto doubtful points. First is the ouestion of the number of acres of this class of range necessary to support a grown animal during a year; the possibilities of the introduction of new plants; the reduction of losses from blacklog on the ranges through vaccination and other preventitive measures; the development of additional water supplies through wells 60000000000000 IN JAIL FOUR MONTHS, BELEASED.
